Great Egg Harbor Multi-use Path

New Jersey

This is a shared-use path that runs along the Garden State Parkway/US Route 9 Bridge between Atlantic and Cape May

This is a shared-use path that runs along the Garden State Parkway/ US Route 9 Bridge between Atlantic and Cape May counties. The northern trailhead is located in the City of Somers Point, along US 9, near the site of the now-demolished Beesley's Point Bridge. The trail then connects users via the Garden State Parkway bridge to Beesley Point Park in Upper Township, where they can find a small public beach, boardwalk with pergola, and picnic shelter with rooftop observation deck overlooking the bay. The trail parallels the southbound lanes of the parkway, but is separated by a concrete barrier and fencing on one side, while the other offers sweeping views of the Great Egg Harbor watershed. The bridge is also a good vantage point for scenic sunsets. The bridge is good for both pedestrians and cyclists, but it has a steep grade, matching the grade of the bridge. Pets are not allowed.
