Tennessee Riverwalk

Tennessee

Overview The Tennessee Riverwalk runs for 13 miles through downtown Chattanooga reaching all the way to the Tennessee away from downtown Chattanooga through a mix of wooded and suburban environments.

The trail passes through the Amnicola Marsh, across the South Chickamauga Creek, and the Tennessee Riverpark at the Dam, where the trail reaches its northern endpoint.

Connections

At the northern end of the trail near the Tennessee Riverpark, the Tennessee Riverwalk connects to the South Chickamauga Creek Greenway.

Overview

The Tennessee Riverwalk runs for 13 miles through downtown Chattanooga reaching all the way to the Tennessee Riverpark in the north.

About the Route

Leaving off from the southwest at Tennessee Riverpark Wheland, the trail winds along the edge of Chattanooga. The southernmost section runs alongside some active railroad tracks. The trail passes under the highway and then travels alongside the Tennessee River along a wooded corridor. As the trail winds the curve of the Riverbend, a spur trail takes trail users across Walnut Street Bridge to Coolidge Park. The main trail heads north
